Wicks Addresses 25th Dinner Of State Police Conference

Senate Majority Leader Tells Patrolmen 'Ground Work' Is Needed on 40-Hour Law; Cost Is Important Factor

Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, in a forthright speech before 400 members of the New York State Police Conference, legislators and guests, "refused to kid" about the prospects of the 40-hour work-week bill for patrolmen now before the state Legislature.

Senator Wicks, father of the eight-hour day law for patrolmen, delivered his statement in a speech at the Silver Jubilee Dinner of the conference Tuesday night at the DeWitt Clinton Hotel, Albany.

Nine Are Injured In Glens Falls Fire

Forty-five Guests Driven From Hotel; Many Jump for Their Lives

Glens Falls, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP)—Fire roared through the 100-room Towers Hotel with terrifying speed early today, forcing night-clad guests to leap for their lives.

Almost miraculously, none of the 45 guests was killed. Four hours after the fire broke out about 4:15 a. m., E. S. T., all had been accounted for.

Nine guests were injured. In addition, a half-dozen firemen were hurt fighting the blaze. Three of the firemen were hospitalized.

The rear wall of the four-story 78-year-old hotel collapsed. The fire, of undetermined origin, quickly enveloped the brick structure in the center of the city, 30 miles north of Albany.

There were 45 registered guests. Many of them leaped from the windows of their rooms. At least 18 were carried down ladders to safety by firemen. Others made their way to the street unassisted.

Among those injured was John Delaney, manager of the hotel and formerly assistant manager of the Ten Eyck in Albany.

He was in serious condition at Glens Falls Hospital with burns of the face and body.

The fire was discovered on the second floor rear, just above the kitchen.

The city's entire fire department was called out. Firemen quickly raised ladders and carried 18—perhaps more—guests to the street. Most of the guests were transient.

Weather hampered fire-fighting efforts. The temperature was close to zero and it was snowing. Firemen from adjoining communities rushed to help the Glens Falls department.

The combined forces succeeded in containing the fire within the hotel.

The Towers Hotel opened 78 years ago today on the site of the biggest fire in the history of the city. That occurred in 1864 and virtually wiped out the business section.

The hotel was modernized last year at a cost of $250,000.

18 Die In Bloody Riot
Asmara, Eritrea, Feb. 22 (AP)—Eighteen persons were killed and 55 wounded yesterday in bloody rioting between Moslems and Christians in Asmara's native quarter. British troops aided hard-pressed police in putting down the rioting which started over religious and political feuds. The British occupy this prewar Italian colony until the United Nations decides whether to turn it back to Italy, grant independence or give it to neighboring land-locked Ethiopia.

Council Approves Bond Issues on Streets, Machines

Vote on $121,907 Figure Is Unanimous; Cut $26,853 Below First Request

A bond issue of $121,907.89 for street improvement and machinery was approved by the Common Council in recessed session last night.

The amount was $26,853.15 less than that requested at the regular session Feb. 7.

The original $73,761.04 requested for machinery was cut to $46,907.89, and there was no cut in the $75,000 for street improvement.

Reports of the Finance and Laws & Rules Committees were adopted unanimously, and the only comment was from Fourth Ward Alderman John Bublitz and Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll, who said they hoped that streets in their wards would get some attention. Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly referred them to Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent.

The money for street repair and the purchase of machinery was requested by the Board of Public Works which approved the original amounts at its January meeting.

Eighth Ward Alderman Joseph N. Bruck, chairman of the finance committee, explained when the meeting was recessed Feb. 7 that the move was to give the committee more time to study the amounts requested.

The B.P.W. had listed streets that would cost an estimated $243,760 to repair but explained that only a portion could be repaired during the forthcoming summer season, and requested the $75,000 for the purpose.

In making its request for the money for machinery, the board explained that many items were worn to the extent that their efficiency has decreased and maintenance of the equipment was costly to the taxpayers.

Kingston Is Represented
Leading the local delegation of patrolmen at the dinner was Guernsey Burger, Jr., president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association; Thomas Tomshaw, vice president; Leonard Ellsworth, treasurer; Louis Sapp, Jr., financial secretary.

Other legislators who preceded Senator Wicks on the speaking program included Assembly Majority Leader Oswald Heck, Senator William F. Condon, Assembly Minority Leader Irwin Steingut and Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson.

Wiltwyck Truck Due
Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today he had received word recently from the Peter Pirsch & Sons Co., Kenosha, Wis., indicating that a new aerial truck for the Wiltwyck fire station will arrive in the city early in March. The truck will be a 65-foot aerial unit.

All Booths Are Subscribed For Local Lions Exposition

All booths for the "Kingston Area on Parade" exposition, sponsored by the Kingston Lions Club, have been subscribed and the exhibition promises to be a bigger and better show than those of previous years.

The exposition will be held at the New York State Armory, Major avenue, from March 22 to 25 inclusive. Exhibition hours will be from 7 to 11 p. m. nightly.

The committee in charge of the exposition has been working hard and announced today that there will be about 93 booths this year showing the products and wares of local industry, merchants and automobile dealers. All car dealers will be in the show, the committee announces.

Nightly entertainment will be provided and there will be many gifts given away each evening of the exposition.

Booths will be installed and decorated by the G. A. Trahan Company. The entire drill shed and gymnasium will be decorated in a very colorful manner. Two large aircraft searchlights will be brought here by the committee as an added attraction.

A highlight of the affair will be the anticipated huge parade which will be staged on the opening night, weather permitting. "Kingston Area on Parade" sponsored by the Lions Club will give people of Kingston and the surrounding area an opportunity to inspect the product of local industry and to examine under one roof many of the products sold by local firms and at the same time enjoy a social atmosphere with good entertainment. In addition the Lions Club will acquire additional funds to further its good work in the community.

Dewey Says Taxes Used To Destroy

Excise Levies Working Industrial Harm, in Opinion of Governor; Cites Businesses

Repeal Needed to End Human Misery in Many Cases

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said today that wartime-imposed federal excise taxes have caused widespread industrial retrenchments and cost thousands of workers their jobs.

By continuing such taxes, he charged, the power to tax is being used as "a power to destroy."

Dewey's remarks were in an address prepared for delivery in presenting awards at the 14th annual photo exhibit of the Press Photographers Association of New York.

Dewey charged that the excise taxes had caused major curtailments in affected industries, such as photographic equipment manufacturers, transportation, fur, leather, jewelry and communications.

"These war-imposed taxes also are causing unemployment and in some of the affected industries, many of the workers, in effect, have been taxed on the relief rolls," the governor said.

He cited the fur, luggage, jewelry and cosmetics industries, which, he said, employed 71,000 persons in New York state in 1949.

"In 1949, under the constant pressure of the heavy taxes, he said, only 53,000 workers remained."

State Is Hit Hard
Dewey said that the excise taxes had hit New York state particularly hard, since major segments of the affected industries are located in this state.

He said 77 per cent of all fur production workers, 45 per cent of luggage and small leather industry workers, 65 per cent of photographic equipment workers, 38 per cent of cosmetic workers and 28 per cent of jewelry workers are employed in New York state.

In wartime, Dewey said, it was reasonable that the government should want to restrict purchases in these industries to destroy production could go to more essential items.

"No one can quarrel with this," he said. "But I do quarrel over nearly five years."

"I believe it is a matter of simple justice that these wartime excise taxes should now be repealed to encourage purchasing."

He said railroad excise taxes had caused drops in business, and put thousands of railroad workers out of jobs.

He said the "consequent human misery" is enough reason for repeal of the taxes.

"But add that the enormous drain on our state revenue by loss of business, taxes, plus the great addition to our relief rolls," he said, "and the situation cries out for action."

The photo exhibit, at which prizes go to the best new pictures of 1949 by New York News photographers, is a feature of the National Photographic Show.

The show opens today for a five-day run at the 71st Regiment Armory, 34th street and Park avenue. More than 100 exhibitors are participating.

Improvement Is Hoped
Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—State Department officials expressed hope today that the American diplomatic break with Bulgaria will bring improvement in the treatment of U. S. diplomats and their local employees in other Russian satellite countries. A tragic Bulgarian death and death in the Bulgarian capital, Sofia, was not clear here that American officials and their native aides have been victimized to the same extent in other Communist nations. There was no immediate indication of a further break with any of those nations.

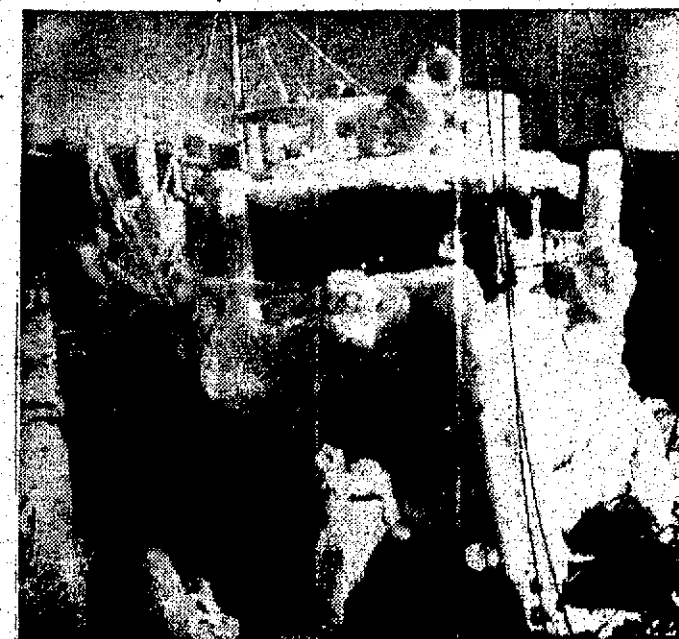

Charged With Murder
Lunay Va., Feb. 22 (AP)—Page county authorities today charged Mrs. Barbara Parks, 26, with murder in the fatal shooting of her husband, Robert Franklin Parks, former Japanese war prisoner. The warrant was served on the attractive 26-year-old red-head in her cell in the county jail by Sheriff Abram Brubaker and State Police Special Investigator C. A. Seal. "I didn't do it," she said. "I did it," Mrs. Parks cried as the warrant was served.

Phone Mediation Hits Snag; Truman Action Only Hope

Beirne Says Walkout of 100,000 Friday Is Inevitable; Firm Spurns Talk

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—Government mediation of the nationwide telephone dispute ran into stone-wall resistance today. Only quick White House intervention appeared as a possibility to head off the walkout of 100,000 workers Friday.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the Communications Workers of America, told a Nashville audience last night that the walkout seems inevitable.

Conciliation Director Cyrus S. Ching reported the stalemate in peace efforts to the White House last night.

His plans for bringing the Western Electric Company representatives into the same room here with the C.I.O.-Communications Workers yesterday were rebuffed.

The company said it would negotiate only in New York, where it has been meeting in fruitless bargaining sessions with the union.

The union representatives, who stood by all day yesterday while Ching argued with company officials to sit down with the union in his office, refused to return to New York for talks there.

The hours ticked away toward the deadline for a nationwide telephone strike at 6 a. m. local time, Friday. The last country-wide "phone strike" was in 1947, by the same union, then the National Federation of Telephone Workers, an independent organization.

The Western Electric employees are the key groups in the strike plans, because Western Electric installation and sales divisions operate in nearly every major telephone exchange across the nation. Their pickets will be counted on by C.W.A. leaders to keep telephone operators from taking their posts after Friday.

Another 120,000 workers employed by Bell Telephone System units are members of the union, but their contracts won't permit them to join in the first wave of walkouts Friday.

With the two divisions of Western Electric, the C.W.A. groups planning to strike Friday are employed by the Pacific, Mountain and New England divisions.

Rhinebeck Groups Favor Bridge Site Desired by B. A.

Frazer and Staley Chosen to Work With Local Interests in Behalf of Site

Three Rhinebeck organizations last night went on record in favor of the site approved by the New York State Bridge Authority for the proposed Kingston-Rhinebeck bridge, and appointed a two-man committee to campaign for the site.

Members of Rhinebeck's Rotary Club, Merchants Association and Civic Club aired the merits of the authority's site and the one two miles north favored by the state public works department.

Supervisor Silas Frazer and Homer K. Staley were appointed as the committee to work with Kingston interests and petition Albany authorities in behalf of the site which already has been approved by the bridge authority and which has figured in preliminary planning.

Will Establish Center
White Plains, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP)—A permanent air raid filter center, designed largely to thwart any enemy air attack on New York city, will be established in this suburban Westchester county community. Decision by state and federal defense commands to develop the center, to receive and chart air raid alarms from a score of counties of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, was announced yesterday. A call was sent out for 500 civilian volunteers to operate the secret warning center. Start of full-scale operations is set for May 1.

Officials Hold Closed Probe Of Rockville Centre Tragedy

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—Federal, state and Long Island Railroad officials joined today in a closed-door investigation of the train collision at Rockville Centre which killed 29 persons.

The inquiry was called by the railroad, and representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the State Public Service Commission arranged to sit in.

The state commission held an open hearing yesterday and last night on the railroad's safety devices. Commission meetings are scheduled for tomorrow and Friday.

The Nassau County Grand Jury prepared today to investigate the wreck, and especially the case of the motorman blamed by authorities for crashing head-on into another train.

The motorman, Jacob Klefer, 55, of Baldwin, N. Y., is free in $10,000 bail on a manslaughter charge.

Farm Worker Is Held for Grand Jury on Murder Count in Man's Death

Exposure apparently caused the death of Miss Geneva Smith, aged about 35 to 40, whose body was found lying on the snow Tuesday morning some 200 feet from the shack on the Kurtz farm near Ireland Corners where Carl Johnson was found murdered. Johnson died from injuries inflicted about the head and face. A bloody ax was found in the shack.

William Maben, 61, a farm hand on the John Lucy farm at Gardiner, is being held for grand jury action on a second degree murder charge.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Upright of the town of Lloyd Tuesday afternoon, Maben waived examination and was brought to jail.

The grand jury is now in session and the case will probably be given preference and presented to the grand jury this week.

An autopsy performed on the body of Miss Smith Tuesday indicated she had died from exposure. There was a slight bruise on the fingers of the left hand which may have been accidentally inflicted. No official verdict as to the cause of death had been reported to District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn early today by Coroner Arthur Chipp of Kerkonkson.

Maben, who is being held on a murder charge, is a brother-in-law of the dead man, Carl Johnson. Johnson has two brothers residing in the Gardiner area, Vincent and Henry Johnson.

A sister of Johnson is married to William Maben, according to the state police.

The theory of a double murder, which at first had been suspected, was exploded when the autopsy disclosed that Miss Smith had apparently died of exposure and there was no evidence of foul play.

Legislators Await Word From Truman Before Voting Measure

By STERLING F. GREEN
Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—Thwarted thus far in its effort to produce coal by court order, the government today was reported considering contempt action directly against John L. Lewis and his top lieutenants.

A federal contempt of court citation—which named the striking United Mine Workers as a union but not the officers—has brought no results in two days except further fuel famine, more plant shutdowns, and scattered violence.

Negotiations have ground on. The bargaining sessions grew shorter and the recesses longer. No progress was visible; demands grew for federal seizure of the mines.

But a responsible government official said the Justice Department first may try "filling some more papers" to broaden the contempt case.

He suggested that Federal Judge Richard B. Keen may be asked to add the names of Lewis and some of U.M.W.'s 24 district presidents in the contempt citation. This official said the government, when it obtained the contempt citation Monday, lacked evidence to do more than make a blanket complaint against the 370,000-member union. Now, he said, more specific charges may be lodged.

This development with reports from both union and industry sources that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents have been busy in the coal fields, assembling evidence on the union's efforts on lack of effort to comply with the court's back-to-work order.

Lewis, who has twice wired his defiant men to resume digging, gently smiled as he left each bargaining session, and said not a word.

As for legislation authorizing a seizure of the mines, the White House obviously regarding such a step as a last resort, taken only if all other efforts fail.

Leaders Await Nod
Administration leaders in Congress were said to be waiting on the White House. And the last word from the White House was: Mr. Truman neither has nor wants seizure power.

Reports of spreading unemployment, closing schools, hardship and violence built up the tension here.

Rockford, Ill., closed its public schools for the rest of the week. The state capital, Springfield, followed New York's lead and began a "brownout."

Cleveland turned off almost 4,000 street lights. Pittsburgh suspended all night school classes at Washington, D. C., did yesterday.

The Indiana Public Service Commission authorized the state's electric utilities to cut service as much as 25 per cent, upon a showing of emergency.

Idleness in the steel mills and other coal-fueled industries is estimated at 55,000. Another 23,000 steel workers were due for layoff tonight.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation said 23,000 would be laid off at its Pittsburgh and Aliquippa, Pa., works unless new coal supplies are sighted. The plants got some coal yesterday, postponing the shutdown until today.

Sharon (Pa.) Steel Corp. banked a blast furnace at Lawrenceville, Ohio, yesterday, and Southern Railway laid off another 1,000 workers. The Baltimore and Ohio will lay off 10 per cent of its clerical workers Friday and furnish 1,400 more shippers next week. The Southern already has laid off 2,000, the B. & O. 1,000.

Senator Tamm (Ill.) reported receiving word that "organized gangs" were operating in Ohio to prevent miners from working. An official of the West Virginia Coal Association reported that coal

Raise Radio Pay

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—The major radio and television networks have agreed to new salary minimums for their staff directors, who had threatened to strike unless their demands were met. The agreement, which still is to be ratified by members of the A.F.L. Radio and Television Directors Guild, was reached by negotiators last night after a five-hour meeting. Four major networks and Station WOL agreed to a $145-a-week minimum for directors, and a $100-a-week minimum for associate directors. Previous pay was reported to be $130 a week for directors and $75 weekly for assistants.

Federal Income Tax Information

By JAMES MARLOWE

Washington, (AP)—Can you use the 1040 short form in filing your 1949 income tax return?

You can, if your income was under $5,000. And it makes no difference where your income came from, or what kind, or whether taxes were withheld from it during the year.

(Actually, most of the under-$5,000 people who had full tax withheld from their income will use form 1040-A, discussed yesterday and in previous stories.)

When you use the short form you do not figure your own tax but find it, already figured for you, in the table on page 4.

If your income was $5,000 or more you cannot use the 1040 short form. You must use the 1040 long form and figure your tax.

Form 1040 is really only one form of 4 pages. When used by the under-$5,000 people, who find their tax in the table on page 4, it is called the short form.

When it is used by the $5,000-or-over people—who figure their own tax on page 3—it is called the long form.

Although it's easier for the under-$5,000 people to use the 1040 short form, some of them—those with unusual deductible expenses—will save money by using the long form.

That's because anyone using the short form gets without asking—it's already allowed for in the tax table on page 4—a deduction of about 10 per cent for personal expenses like hospital bills, charitable contributions, taxes and so on.

But—suppose a person's deductions were actually more than 10 per cent of his income. He'll lose money in using the short form since there's no place for him to claim more than 10 per cent.

Therefore, the smart thing for him to do is to use the 1040 long form. There he will have to figure his own tax and itemize all the deductions he claims, but he can claim them in full.

Husbands and wives may be puzzled about filing jointly on the 1040 short form. One thing is certain: If one of them had income but the other didn't, they cannot lose by filing jointly on the 1040 short form, provided their total income was under $5,000.

In such a case they'd owe money by not filing jointly on that form. The reason: Under the law, when a couple files jointly, each claims half the income, even though one had none of it. This throws each half into a lower tax bracket.

Example: Jones' income was $4,800, his wife had none. If he files alone, his tax is $544. If his wife files jointly with him the tax on the couple is $514. You can see how that works yourself on page 4 in the columns opposite an income of $4,800.

When a couple's total income is under $5,000, but each had some of that income, in most cases they will save money by filing jointly on the 1040 short form. But this will not be true in 100 per cent of the cases.

So such a couple should check the tax table carefully to see whether they will save by filing jointly or separately on the 1040 short form.

Then there is this problem for married couples where both had income, total income was under $5,000, and one of them wants to use the long form in order to itemize his deductions which were more than the 10 per cent allowed with the short form.

In such a case can one use the long form and itemize to get more than 10 per cent while the other files separately on the short form, taking the 10 per cent deduction allowed him in the table?

No. When one uses the long form to itemize, both have to use the long form and both have to itemize.

If husband and wife have a combined income of $5,000 or more, although the individual income of each was under $5,000, they can file separately on the 1040 short form but not jointly. They can file jointly on the long form, that will give them the benefit of splitting their income to reduce their tax.

Remember: In every case where a husband and wife wish to file a joint return, both must sign it.

Lived 2 Weeks Eating Candle Wax in Boxcar

Seattle, Feb. 22 (AP)—A jobless transient told police today of lying helpless in a boxcar for two weeks on a diet of candle wax.

The man, Frank Zehnder, 48, Houston, Tex., was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

Investigating Patrolman L. F. Ormsby said Zehnder had no shoes and his feet froze. Hospital attendants said both feet were gangrenous.

He told Ormsby another man and he got into the boxcar about a month ago to get out of the cold snap gripping this area at that time. After his feet froze, he said the other man brought food to him when he could move no longer.

"But he 'took off' one day... about two weeks ago, I think," Zehnder recounted. "I was too weak to get out."

Then he started nibbling on wax candles which were in the boxcar.

The boxcar doors were closed but not locked when the emaciated Zehnder was found by cement company employees.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

ZOOT SUITS, with their drape shapes and "real" plants, aren't as new as you might imagine. Although the name came into the language on the heels of the jitterbug craze, the long-drape coats and the peg-top trousers were in vogue as far back as 1907. The dandy at right is a product of that year, which saw more color applied to men's wear. Note the almost brimless, high-crown, fancy-ribbed straw hat and the choke collar. The solid gate in the "coat set of threads" at left belongs in the zoot suit tradition of World War II. The waistline of the high-rise pants stops just short of the Adam's apple, adorned by a flyaway bow-tie. Zoot suiters suffered a decline when wartime material shortages forced curtailment of their costails.

Ferris Institute Has $500,000 Fire Damage

Big Rapids, Mich., Feb. 22 (AP)—Its two main buildings a mass of charred ruins, proud and venerable Ferris Institute intends to carry on.

A $500,000 fire swept the state-owned college last night. Four students, including two football players, were injured in the fight against the blaze.

But classes will resume next week.

Flames raced through the 57-year-old, commerce building and expensively-equipped pharmacy structure.

The fire also damaged the alumni building, containing offices, auditorium and gymnasium. One other department building and the school dormitories were not touched.

The four injured students were hospitalized with burns. The institution has 1,150 students.

Ferris, a co-educational trade and business college renowned for its pharmacy course, was founded by the late former Gov. and U. S. Sen. Woodbridge N. Ferris as a "school of opportunity" for persons of limited previous education.

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—Government estimates on the number of workers without work in January put the figure at 4,500,000.

This was 1,000,000 more than in January 1949, and was a postwar high of joblessness. The Labor Department said yesterday that industrial and commercial employment dropped 1,500,000 between mid-December and mid-January to a total of 42,221,000.

Consumer Prices Drop 2.3 During Year Just Ended

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—Consumer prices declined 2.3 per cent during 1949 and at the start of this year were four per cent under their postwar peak, the Commerce Department reported today.

While food prices had fallen farthest from their crest, they continued to be "high in relation to those for other commodities when compared with the prewar situation in either 1939 or 1926," the department said.

Clothing prices to the consumer took the biggest proportional decline, 7.3 per cent, in 1949, but were off only 7.8 per cent from their postwar highs, by department calculation.

Household furnishings concentrated practically all of their postwar price decline 6.7 per cent into 1949.

The department noted that consumer prices rose to new highs in other respects, rent moving up 2.3 per cent; fuel, electricity and refrigeration 1.4 per cent, and other costs, classified as "miscellaneous," up 1 per cent.

Food costs to the consumer, while down 9 per cent from their postwar high, were off only 3.8 per cent in 1949 although "prices of food at the farm" slumped 15 per cent.

State Drops Charges, Man Will Go to Hospital

Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 22 (AP)—Maryland has dropped false pretense charges against Robert B. Thompson, 22, of Valley Stream, N. Y., and turned him over to the Veterans Administration for hospital treatment.

State's Attorney Martin L. Ingram said yesterday that Thompson has a severe diabetic condition.

He was jailed here in December on complaint of three Hagerstown businessmen that he had sold them advertisements on a check to be placed in drug stores. Investigation disclosed the drug store management knew nothing about the scheme. Unable to post $1,000 bond, Thompson has remained in jail. The charges against him came before the county grand jury this week.

Miss Margaret Crandell, 22, of Syracuse, N. Y., was taken into custody along with Thompson but was released on her promise to appear as a state's witness.

She testified at a preliminary hearing that Thompson hired her to make telephone contacts on the advertising scheme. They worked several towns in upstate New York and Pennsylvania before coming to Hagerstown.

Authorities at Gettysburg, Pa., had asked that Thompson be held for them after disposition of the Maryland charges but this request was withdrawn.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—The crude oil price structure may come tumbling if either Congress cuts oil imports or the British have their way in ousting Americans from world oil markets, some oilmen contend today.

That is because either move could send oil prices tumbling in Venezuela of the Middle East.

"A price cut in oil anywhere will spread everywhere," says B. Brewster Jennings, president of Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., a heavy importer of oil into the United States. "Oil is too easy to move to keep it isolated."

Thus the drive in Congress to bolster domestic output and prices by cutting oil imports would boomerang on its advocates in the southwest, he contends. Their price structure might topple, while their market would be only slightly increased by import curbs.

As for the British, their restrictions on the sale of American oil in the sterling areas will, unless modified, pile up surpluses in the Middle East and Venezuela. This would either lead to price-cutting there or would increase pressure to bring more foreign oil into the U. S. markets. Other oilmen have predicted the British curbs may lead to a world-wide oil price war.

The British so far have not offered American companies an adequate compromise, according to C. L. Harding, Socony's director of Middle East interests. But he hopes that negotiations now underway between American and British government officials will bring a better solution.

Jennings guesses that the outcome will be a compromise "not entirely satisfactory" to either the American oil companies or the London government but considerably better than the present outright restrictions on the sale of American-produced oil in the sterling area.

Venezuela has already cut back oil production by 150,000 barrels a day, partly in an effort to ease the pressure in the U. S. Congress for curbs on imports or a dollar a barrel tariff on oil. Jennings estimates the import curbs suggested would reduce Venezuelan imports to this country by 400,000 barrels a day.

"It is inevitable that political pressures unfriendly to American operations would be created by the resultant deep cut in oil royalties and the tax revenues lost to the Venezuelan government," Jennings says.

In other oil producing areas of the world, he adds, an import curb would turn output of American-held concessions abruptly down and "would jeopardize both the stability of the government involved and the concessions themselves."

Many U. S. oil companies, of course, do not agree with Socony on the need to keep imports unrestricted. They note that world production of oil has risen faster than consumption in this country. This led to cutbacks in production in the south and southwest. At the same time imports began to rise, especially as Middle East oil began to flow here.

Naturally, southwesterners don't like to cut back their own output and sales and see more foreign oil coming onto the American market.

Socony says the major importers have cut back the rate of imports since the first of the year and contends that the domestic industry is not being damaged. Just before Christmas foreign oil was coming in at a rate of 769,000 barrels a day. Importers have cut back, and Socony says the first half of 1950 to 740,000 barrels a day, they say.

Supporters of import curbs and high crude oil prices say these are needed to keep up an incentive for exploring for more oil fields. Necessary both for peacetime uses and wartime reserves. Socony denies that imports are interfering with the discovery or development of new oil reserves here, and says that more new wells were drilled here last year than ever before.

Jennings' contention is that the United States consumes more oil than the rest of the world combined, and yet has only one-third of the world's proved reserves. He reasons that therefore the United States must import substantial amounts of oil if, in the long run, it is to maintain its highly industrial economy and its wartime security.

This seems to put the issue right back in Congress, where the fight grows more bitter every day.

5,890 Bills a Record

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP)—The 1950 Legislature has set a record by introducing 5,890 bills. And there still are more to come. Senators and assemblymen poured 1,380 bills into the hopper yesterday as they rushed to beat last night's deadline on regular introductions. From now on, bills may be introduced only through the rules committees, or by unanimous consent of the members of the Senate or Assembly. The 5,890 bills top by 108 the record 5,782 introduced last year.

Current Events Group Formed to Help Press

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—Supplying the nation's press with background information on current events is the objective of a newly formed organization.

It is called the World Information Committee for Freedom. The executive director is Herbert Houston, former publisher of World's Work.

Announcing the plan yesterday, he said 96 editors, including a leading Republican and Democratic editor from each state, would be named to the national committee in charge of the project.

James Wright Brown, founder of Editor and Publisher newspaper trade magazine, was listed as committee chairman.

The committee, Houston said, will seek to serve as a liaison agency between news sources and newspapers.

The initial project will be the issuance of a weekly bulletin describing documents available from the government, the United Nations and other sources, and answering newspaper inquiries concerning such source material.

No charge will be made to newspapers for the service.

Houston said support probably will come from some non-profit foundation. Two or three such groups are interested, he said, "but did not list them."

WASHINGTON'S FAREWELL ADDRESS

For decades many Americans have cited George Washington's Farewell Address, delivered upon his retirement from the Presidency, as a testament of isolationism.

Through years of sweeping changes in national and world conditions, his advice against entangling alliances for the United States has been pointed to as a steady, unchanging chart of wisdom never losing its value.

This anniversary of Washington's birth is a fitting moment to re-examine these celebrated words and try to measure their worth for us today. Here is what he said:

"Europe has a set of primary interests, which to us have none, or a very remote, relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns."

"Our detached and distant situation invites us to pursue a different course. . . . 'Tis our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world. . . . Taking care always to keep ourselves, by suitable establishments, on a respectable defensive posture, we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies."

It is thoroughly apparent that Washington was moved to utter these cautions by the overwhelming 18th century fact of the country's real geographic isolation and, in consequence, its political and economic separateness. Detached, distant, remote: these are the keys to his thinking on September 17, 1796.

But Washington's remarkable record both as revolutionary general and as President reveals him to be a hard-headed realist. There is nothing in his Farewell Address nor in any other utterance to suggest he would not recognize the physical and technological changes that have telescoped the world both in time and space since 1796.

Rash indeed are the men who dare contend that Washington would view the U. S. of 1950 as detached, distant and remote. Everything about his life indicates he would, on the contrary, be in the forefront of those who understand how greatly the globe has shrunk.

It is an injustice to Washington to continue to draft him in support of the isolationist theory of foreign affairs. The policy he spoke in his Farewell Address was carefully tailored to the realities of his time.

If we would properly revere him for his true qualities of greatness, then we must credit him with the elemental intelligence that his policy to reality no matter how that reality is altered. Were he alive in 1950, Washington's speeches would not likely be studied with words such as "detached, distant and remote." Rather, we'd be hearing brutal truths spelled out in terms of guided missiles, long-range bombers and the hydrogen bomb.

FIGHT AGAINST CRIME

Proposals for some kind of federal action against crime organizations are rapidly gaining adherents, both in Washington and in many cities and state capitals. A study of laws by a committee of municipal, state and federal officials is to be one result of a conference on crime held recently by the federal attorney-general, and the Senate Judiciary Committee has on foot an inquiry into gambling which could well produce recommendations for new federal criminal laws.

There are many possibilities for real help by federal authorities in the suppression of crime. At the same time there also are inherent political dangers against which careful safeguards must always be maintained. The larger a federal police force becomes, the greater are the potential misuses of it by the unscrupulous. Every new federal police control over citizens is a potential check on the individual's independence of action. A fine balance is needed between the safeguarding of individual rights and sufficient police power to control the underworld. The experience some cities with crime syndicates indicates that we do not have the cor-

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A HUMANE NATION

This country, more than any other on earth, has, from its very inception, been faced by the necessity of providing a way of life which would make it possible for peoples of varying racial strains and religious concepts to live together in peace, forbearance and amity.

This problem faced George Washington as it faces us. We are today composed of some 50 races of man and of more than 250 religious sects, and we manage surprisingly well. We do not suppress men because of their origins or beliefs; we do not repress differences. Admittedly, most men believe that theirs is the best origin and the best way of life, and they sometimes look down their noses at those whose antecedents and ways of life are different. But in the sum total of American life, and with rare exceptions, this hurts nobody. Our diversities strengthen rather than weaken us.

George Washington, in 1775, was faced by as difficult a situation as ever a man knew. He led a rebel army. If the Revolution failed, the rebels would be traitors; if success met his arms, he would establish a new nation. He was fighting a mighty power; yet was uncertain of the support of his own people. He had called for volunteers to march into Canada and 1,100 men were encamped on Cambridge Common under Colonel Benedict Arnold, whom Washington then trusted.

On September 14, 1775, George Washington wrote to Benedict Arnold, giving him his orders which were enclosed in a covering letter that contained one of the most notable paragraphs in the traditional philosophy of the American people. The wisdom and humanity of George Washington's instructions, while pointed to the Canadian expedition, can serve us well in this era of confusion. He wrote to Benedict Arnold as follows:

"Should any American soldier be so base and infamous as to injure any Canadian or Indian, in his person or property, I do most earnestly entreat you to bring him to such severe and exemplary punishment as the enormity of the crime may require. Should it extend to death itself it will not be disproportional to its guilt at such a time and in such a cause; but I hope and trust, that the brave men who have voluntarily engaged in this expedition, will be governed by far different views. That order, discipline and regularity of behaviour will be as conspicuous as their courage and valor. I also give it in charge to you to avoid all disrespect to or contempt of the religion of the country and its ceremonies. Prudence, policy, and a true Christian spirit, will lead us to look with compassion upon their errors without insulting them. While we are contending for our own liberty, we should be very cautious of violating the rights of conscience in others. Even considering that God alone is the judge of the hearts of men, and to Him only in this case, they are answerable."

From the very beginning, this nation viewed war with sadness and the victims of war with pity and compassion. While Washington had to go into Canada, he did not regard those people as enemies, to be decimated, any more than we today hate the Japanese or the Germans. He only considered them approved of the wonderful work of General Douglas MacArthur who came the conqueror and remained the friend of the Japanese people.

But more than that, he implored his troops to remember that God's house is of many mansions and that He would not have made his children so different had he intended them to be identically the same.

Washington was speaking to a Yankee army, largely Protestant, descendants of Pilgrims and Puritans. He was sending them into a Roman Catholic country. His troops were mostly of English origin; he was sending them among a mixed French and Indian population. He impressed upon them that the right of conscience is individual, and that those who would enjoy liberty must respect the liberty of others.

It was upon such a theme of the dignity of the individual human being that Washington led his troops to victory and founded our nation. We have inherited that tradition from his day. May we cherish it forever.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

NEW TREATMENT FOR NEURALGIA

I have written before about treatment of the dolorous (trigeminal neuralgia) in which the pain in face and head is practically unbearable, requiring large doses of powerful drugs to give the patient relief. Many patients undergo surgery to obtain loss of feeling in the face region, rather than use drugs. Fortunately, it was discovered a few years ago that injections of alcohol in and about this large nerve in the face gave relief in the majority of cases. The relief lasts for days and sometimes for years.

What may prove to be another drug to give relief in trigeminal neuralgia is reported in the British "Lancet" by Dr. A. M. G. Campbell, Bristol, England. This new treatment is an organic copper-derivative, marketed under the trade name of Cuprelone, supplied in a powder to be dissolved in distilled water for injection into a vein. The drug contains 19 per cent metallic copper.

Doses up to 100 mg. are well tolerated by the patient, although doses of 25 to 50 mg. of the compound at intervals of four to seven days are enough to bring about a permanent cure. An average total dosage of 800 mg. administered over a six-week period is suggested.

Of 33 cases reported, three remained free of symptoms for periods ranging up to one year; in six others the results were judged to be satisfactory, of the remainder, one patient failed to benefit from treatment, another was temporarily relieved of the pain but later relapsed and in two cases the effects were doubtful.

Careful examination of the blood and the urine after administering Cuprelone failed to show any toxic (poisonous) action of the drug upon kidneys or bone marrow.

Just how Cuprelone kills or lessens the pain in the dolorous is unknown but Dr. Campbell points out that it is not a general anesthetic as it fails to affect pain in intractable bone disease.

This method of treating the terrible pain of trigeminal neuralgia may be welcomed by all physicians as it may help many cases which otherwise would require alcohol injections or the severe surgical operation necessary to relieve pain.

rect balance at the present time.

Another point which must be kept constantly in mind is that neither local responsibility nor local authority should be abdicated to federal crime-busters. It is the responsibility of local government to enforce municipal and state laws, and in the great majority of cases if this is done well and energetically even crime syndicates with powerful intercity and interstate connections will find themselves unable to operate. Local government should never welcome the intervention of higher government, in dealing with local criminal problems, until after the utmost effort has been made to employ local authority against them.

Monument to Freedom

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Secretary Acheson's refusal to "turn his back" on Alger Hiss is now criticized not only by G.O.P. senators but by Dictator Franco's official radio.

The Madrid broadcast is significant. Because like Moscow, the "Voice of the Falange" radio station operates for and by the Spanish government. What it says represents the official view of the dictator.

It may also be significant that the Spanish attack on Acheson and the State Department came shortly after Acheson had quit "turning his back on Franco" and had indicated that he was willing to extend him full recognition.

Despite this, the Voice of the Falange blared forth on Feb. 18: "Well-known Communists have been located in the U. S. State Department. This has been stated by a Republican senator (McCarty of Wisconsin) who added that these men held quite important positions in this ministry. It is not merely a question of Hiss, who has been convicted of perjury and to whom Acheson has promised his continued friendship. We are not surprised by this announcement any more than we were surprised by the news that there was every type of undesirable among the advisers to the late president."

Aaron Burr and Hiss
 Acheson's defense of Hiss has a lot of interesting precedents in U. S. history. They include: Andrew Jackson's defense of Aaron Burr; Charles Evans Hughes' defense of Senator Newberry; Taft's early defense of Richard Ballinger—later, silenced; and Harry Truman's defense of boss Tom Pendergast.

The late Franklin Roosevelt undoubtedly would have used a different strategy from Acheson's. He operated on the theory that such high office as secretary of state or president must be kept clear of embarrassing friendships, that a good field commander must remain behind the lines while his troops and friends—were necessary casualties in battle.

But here are some famous perjuries and incidents in which they differed with F.D.R.'s strategy:
 Harry Truman—Continued his loyalty to Kansas City's boss Tom Pendergast, after the latter served a jail sentence, flew in a government plane to his funeral, and promptly ousted U. S. Attorney Maurice Milligan, who convicted Pendergast, immediately after Truman entered the White House.

Unquestionably Truman's loyalty to Pendergast has hurt him politically, but he has snapped his fingers at public opinion.

Note—It may have been the Pendergast incident that led Truman to support Acheson when he informally offered to resign over the Hiss incident three weeks ago.

Though the State Department issued a carefully worded denial, here is exactly what happened: Acheson dropped in at the White House late in the afternoon shortly after the Hiss statement, and Truman began to tell him, half-jokingly, what a barrage of criticism he had been getting. Acheson remarked that he would be glad to get out if he was causing any embarrassment, to which the President stood up and not to pay any attention to those "yapping S.O.B.s."

Champion of Newberry
 Charles Evans Hughes—Cool, calm, and cautious Secretary of State Hughes did pretty much what Acheson did when Michigan's Senator Truman H. Newberry was convicted of violating the corrupt practices act.

Newberry had been elected to the Senate in a contest with the late Henry Ford in which Newberry spent a great deal of money, and later was convicted. Hughes, then in private practice, defended him, and the case was appealed to the Supreme Court which set aside the conviction. By this time Hughes had become Secretary of State, but nevertheless wrote a letter stating: "The plain fact was that Senator Newberry was wrongly and most unjustly convicted and his conviction was set aside."

The Hughes letter brought just as loud protests from the Democrats as the Acheson defense of Hiss has from Republicans. Loudly to protest was Cordell Hull, later Secretary of State himself, but then chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Hull proclaimed:

"If Secretary Hughes does not know that the Newberry seat in the Senate was bought, he is the only intelligent person in America who does not know that fact."

Jackson's Promotion
 Andrew Jackson—When Aaron Burr was being tried for treason in Richmond, Andrew Jackson was one of the few to support him under extremely unpopular circumstances. Albert J. Beveridge describes the Richmond incident as follows:

"A tall, lank, uncouth-looking personage with long locks of hair hanging over his face . . . mounted the steps of a corner grocery and harangued the glowering assemblage that gathered in front of him. His daring and unmistakable air of danger to anyone who disputes him, prevented violent interruption. Certain to have been visited upon one less bold. He praised Burr as a brave man and a patriot who would have led Americans against the hated Spanish."

Thus Andrew Jackson of Tennessee braved and cowled the hostile mob that was demanding and impatiently awaiting the condemnation and execution of (Burr).

Note—As a result of this defense, President Madison held up Jackson's military promotion during the War of 1812.

William Howard Taft—On Sept. 13, 1901, President Taft wrote a letter to Secretary of the Interior Richard Ballinger, completely absolving him in the Alaskan land scandals. In 1911, however, Ballinger resigned following an investigation by Louis Brandeis which disclosed that the letter of 1901 actually was written by Ballinger's attorney, Oscar Lawler.

The incident led to the historic split between Taft and Teddy Roosevelt. Years later, Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, incidentally a strong Teddy Roosevelt man, discovered records which led him to absolve the deceased Ballinger.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The current alarm over the menace to our altars that some cops-and-robbers city editors see in the slots, the numbers and Frank Costello leaves me nonchalant and a refuge of unnerfed millions. If by my cool example I can calm the panic, then to this noble end I dedicate myself.

Miami, Fla., including the beach, is a political, social and, to a large extent, economic repetition on the east coast of Los Angeles on the west. It didn't grow but exploded into being—wild, robust, garish, ignorant and, above all, mercenary. There is a distinct temperamental difference, with advantage to neither community, in the fact that Los Angeles has been the springboard of the craziest variety of hoodoo in the recorded history of popular frenzy.

Sister Aimee and the Great I Am, with his lake of gold inside Shasta and the rite of devastation executed with his sacred blue flame, were only typical Mahatmas in Los Angeles. In New York, on the other hand, the little fat, fried-chicken prophet with the hash-brown complexion, Father Divine, is just a harmless nut. Should a man or woman aspire to be God in Los Angeles, the county clerk will stamp a nominating petition in the regular way and put it on the same November day a bipartisan county board of pontiffs will be elected for a four-year term. Reverence toward such gurus, for confusion prevails and there is no point in mocking some wild-eyed fire-walker with hair like the Southernland Slims who might turn out, come judgment day, to be even who.

Miami, I say, will have none of this. She is materialistic and, as another illustration, one year a student who wanted to read the striking history of Dade county, after fruitless knocking at the drug store counters, luckily borrowed the only work in town from a lady press agent for the biggest gambling house. However, people living and making history, as the few native crackpots and the shrill hordes of carpebaggers have been doing these 30 years, read nothing in the past more fascinating than their life from day to day.

Miami has been as rough as Tombstone ever was and I dare say she still is, with her annual hibernation of those whom Edgar Hoover long ago called the criminal class. There have been charged, brutal and rough as the (fabulous) story that Clay Corral in every joint in town, and it is a delicate tribute to the climate or, perhaps, the fineness of local government that they have held their instincts down. The potting of Fat Walsh, the bodyguard of Arnold Rothstein, in a roulette room in a tower was a faux pas so roundly deplored that the forces of the law parted like waters of the sea to let the miscreant leave. The Miami police are still in the gentle euphoria of the press, baffled.

Now for a long time, the Miami Herald has been frigate and righteous in the continued presence of the unwelcome. They shout the law and set at naught the maxims of civic wholesomeness. They scratch sand off kinsate bellies in the sunlight hours, sending their bets up to the hotel cigar stand per courier. They operate rackets, including, I take it, from old experience, those which have not been there of late, the slots, the numbers, and the nuts or shells, and they live out of wedlock with ladies who certainly are pretty but ought to be ashamed. But they spend an awful lot of money.

Al Capone served us in an earlier day as the enemy of all decent citizens hold dear. He gave good service even after he was gone. We continued to hear of the remnants of the Capone gang long after he was, not usually as an implacable force called the Syndicate. Even policemen in Chicago spoke of the Syndicate as though it were substantial like the Illinois Central or the Board of Trade. Yet I never learned who its officers were and now I visit the series of more earlier fears to hear that Frank Costello is the heir to the mantle and has painted out the old sign. The Syndicate is now the Combination and the F.B.I. is impudently to have its eye upon it.

I read that the Combination has slimp tentacles stretching even into the bleakness of Des Moines and Omaha, but there is an exclusiveness in this news which cools me out and warns me off. If this be true, then all the cities thus afflicted have their own slimp tentacles and the power to use reasonable force to put their bad conditions down. There are grand juries with powers even over judges.

Police work is local business and the ready appeal to the general welfare clause of the preamble to the constitution is a plea of civic bankruptcy and official incompetence. The juvenile theory that F.B.I. men, with rubber gloves, klieg-lights, acid and He-detectors can distinguish between ketchup, lipstick, bumpy and blood and break a murder by the lines on a cardiolgram is encouraging local cops to ride around on tom-her listening to the radio. Contrary to romantic radio programs about reporting the truth is that the cops are incomparably better, when they really work. They are more often obstructed than helped by Junior G-men reporting to the city desk by radio wristwatch. I bespeak composure in the presence of the Combination.

 We would like through you to tell all those who attended the presentation "Ten Little Indians" by the Footlighters Saturday night, Feb. 11, how very much we appreciate their interest.

It takes a great amount of money to run a nursery school. We have been very handicapped by lack of funds. We were sure these purchasing tickets realized this fact, and were glad to help. In addition they saw a fine play given in a splendid manner.

Certainly the "Footlighters" are to be congratulated. We are sure their future efforts will be successful.

Two More Scouts Added to Roster For Big Jamboree

Life Scout Donald Bach of Post 130, Saugerties and First Class Scout Carl Steinhoff of Troop 29, Ellenville are the latest additions to the roster of the Ulster-Greene Council Troop to the second National Jamboree at Valley Forge next summer. Their registrations were announced today by Harry Rigby, Jr., chairman of the local council's jamboree committee. Rigby also expressed the appreciation of his committee to the Woodstock Square Club for its recent decision to give $80 to the jamboree fund to help two Woodstock Scouts to participate in the event which will be the highlight of the crusade of the Boy Scouts of America to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty."

Life Scout Bach is the son of Mrs. Hobart Bach, 98 West Bridge street, Saugerties, and has been a Scout since March 1946 when he joined Troop 32. He received his Life Scout rank last September, and in November transferred to Explorer Post 130 which is sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5034. He has held several positions of leadership in the troop and has camped at Camp Tri-Mount the past two summers. He is now an Explorer Apprentice in the post.

First Class Scout Steinhoff will be one of the youngest Scouts in the local delegation to the jamboree, having just become 14 years of age. He joined Troop 29, sponsored by the B'nai B'rith Lodge 1579, in March 1948 and received his First Class rank at Camp Tri-Mount last summer. His second summer there he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Steinhoff, 41 Center street, Ellenville, and is the first Ellenville Scout to register for the jamboree.

Rigby urged all Scout unit leaders to send in the registration blanks for any of their Scouts who want to attend the Jamboree before February 27 so the committee will know exactly how many spaces to reserve. The spaces are not to be held after March 1.

Rat Costs $2 a Year

Moore Says Voters Reject Socialized Housing Program

Socialized housing has been overwhelmingly defeated in almost every instance when it has been submitted to a referendum of the voters, George Moore, president of the Ulster County Real Estate Board, declared today.

Citizens of New Jersey and California, Mr. Moore pointed out, voted two to one to reject state public bond issues.

"These two examples would tend to show that the so-called 'mandate' for the $15 billion socialistic housing program is a figment of someone's imagination," he observed.

"Moreover," he asserted, "in numerous local communities, the voters have consistently expressed themselves as emphatically opposed to public housing in their area."

"For instance, in St. Paul, a public housing bond issue was turned down by a vote of two to one. A proposition permitting local authorities to apply for two public housing projects was decisively defeated in St. Petersburg, Fla.," Mr. Moore said.

Citing a recent speech by T. H. Maenner, Omaha, former president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, the local realty leader quoted Mr. Maenner as saying, "While a scant majority of five votes in the (House of Representatives) launched a vast socialized housing program, there is a steadily growing body of evidence that the public does not want this type of political housing program. When the voters have an opportunity to express themselves, they consistently reject socialized housing."

Continuing, the president of the Ulster County Real Estate Board offered the results in two Michigan cities as further examples of the unpopularity of public housing.

Grand Rapids turned thumbs down on a proposal to establish a local housing authority in Detroit, Mayor Albert E. Cobo, the successful candidate for his present office publicly expressed his opposition to local public housing proposals during his campaign.

"Proponents of political housing, meanwhile," Mr. Moore said, "are evidently fearful of the results and are using every conceivable means to keep local citizens from expressing their opinions on public housing at the ballot box."

"The Pontiac (Mich.) C.I.O. Council, along with other groups, endeavored to keep the electorate from being polled as to their position on the issue of public housing in that community," he said.

If the public houses are so confident of the public's acceptance of political housing why do they struggle to keep the public from exercising its voting privilege at the ballot box?" he added. "My position," he emphasized, "can best be summed up by the following quote from a recent editorial which appeared in The Seattle Times:

"Public housing is not a characteristic American institution. It is a resort to the course of least resistance, like all approaches to a socialized society."

"This statement," the president observed, "is probably a criterion of how the American people must react to the proposition of socialized, political housing."

Preacher Sums Up Ills

Philadelphia (AP)—A Presbyterian pastor says he thinks he has the answer to 1950's most important problems. The Rev. Arthur D. Williams said: "We need better leaders, freedom from fear and help for social cripples. There are too many people today who are ready to brand any and all who speak freely about the shortcomings of society as subversive. The result of this is that many splendid citizens see wrong and are afraid to speak and act because of the smear threat."

Senators Have Fear Europe Aid Plan To Hurt Markets

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—E.C.A. Chief Paul Hoffman kicked up an argument among senators today with his plan to help western Europe sell at least a billion dollars worth of goods each year on the American market.

Some lawmakers gave the proposal cautious support as the only practical way to solve Europe's dollar problem. Others argued it would drive American workers to relief rolls.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee called on Hoffman to explain in more detail his $2,050,000,000 third-year program for the Economic Cooperation Administration which he placed before lawmakers yesterday.

At that time, Hoffman told Senate and House Foreign Committees that E.C.A. is setting up a staff in Paris to help European countries develop a larger export market in America. He argued this country could buy up to $1,250,000,000 worth of European goods without "any appreciable effect on the U. S. economy."

He noted that this amount is only about one per cent of the total goods produced in the United States each year.

Hoffman conceded this new competition would put the squeeze on some American industries. He proposed they might be given direct government relief to make up their losses.

Secretary of State Acheson said yesterday some "spot aid" would be needed by Europe after the E.C.A. program expires in 1952.

Where Moviegoers Fight Amusement Tax

If you're against paying extra to see movies, here's one of the booths where ballots are distributed asking Congress to take action. The sign reads: "Please do everything you can to bring about the repeal of the 20 per cent federal amusement tax which discriminates so unfairly against us who depend upon the movies as the best entertainment we can afford." Both of Walter Reade's local movie houses, the Broadway and Kingston Theatres have the ballots and booths. Manager Robert W. Case told a reporter that approximately 10,000 theatre patrons have signed slips for him to send to Congressman Jay LeFevre in Washington. The tax was imposed in 1944 as an emergency wartime measure to be repealed six months after the cessation of hostilities, but now, five years later movie fans, men, women and children are still paying. Case said, "Walter Reade Theatres are definitely pledged to pass the tax savings on to patrons, thus reducing admission prices." (Freeman Photo)

Metal, Weaving Classes Will Have Display at Herzog's

A part of the adult education program of the Kingston High School includes an art metal and weaving group, which meets for three hours on Monday and Wednesday evenings at the Vocational School, under the direction of Hubert Hoderath, director.

The class, which is under the supervision of Ray Gilkey, is planning a display of its metal-craft and textile work with the cooperation of the Herzog Hardware Supply Company, beginning Friday, February 24. The display will be in the Herzog store show window on Wall street and will remain in place for a week.

The class has been in operation for three years and this is the first time a public display of the work had been made.

Each year a greater and more unusual type of interest for the making of articles by hand is shown and the work is done by persons, for the most part, who have had no special previous background. Several members of the metal-craft class are taking a class that work for the first time this year and some of the members have in previous years worked in wood or other materials, turning their attention this year to metal work.

Included in the class are several business men and women who have taken up the work as a hobby and are seeking aid in the Adult Education classes at the Vocational School to improve their ability.

The display at the Herzog store will include articles such as bowls, jewelry, candlesticks, ash trays and sewing trays and other metal objects worked in copper, brass, aluminum and German silver. Handwoven articles in over-shot weaving will be shown and altogether the display will be most interesting to all.

Excelsior Hose Holds Banquet

Members of Excelsior Hose Company, No. 4, held their annual banquet last evening at Roseland restaurant with a large number of members and friends present. City county and town of Ulster officials were guests of the company, which during 1950 will celebrate its 100th anniversary.

He also congratulated the company on its anniversary and said for a company to reach an age of 100 years means the company must be a great asset to the community, which it is.

Chief Murphy also mentioned the fact that Wright Mains will be observing his 50th anniversary as a member of the fire department in October of this year.

Others who were introduced by Toastmaster William B. Martin, were George O'Leary of Saugerties, chairman of the board of directors of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Association and Anthony Delisio of Haverstraw, a member of the board of directors of the association. Both gave short talks.

Rec Group Approves Legion Bid for Field

Woodstock, Feb. 22—The Woodstock recreation committee met Saturday night with a delegation of four members from the American Legion. Members of the Legion wanted to secure the use of the recreation field for an American Legion baseball team.

It was carefully explained to the group that the Youth Commission funds, given by the State of New York, are for the use of you rather than adult recreation and that the Woodstock recreation committee raises funds and works on the recreation project for youth, not for adults, the committee decided, that at least one night—possibly two, and a Sunday—periodically—could be set aside to satisfy the request of the American Legion.

At a meeting Sunday morning, the committee prepared a budget for submission to the Youth Commission of the State of New York which necessarily involves plans for the coming season.

Among the new projects planned by the committee will be improvement of the ball field in enlarging and rebuilding the back stop for the safety of spectators and a concrete apron to keep dirt and mud from being tracked on the birchards.

It is expected that Walter Van Wageningen will be the director of playground activities.

Carton Asks Intervention

President Carton made a plea to have state legislators intervene in Social Security legislation now pending before Congress.

Carton warned that social security would result in loss of morale, mass retirements and resignations. Recruits would not have the incentive of the present retirement benefits to maintain the esprit de corps which now exists in police departments throughout the state, he said.

Support of amendments submitted by Senators Lehman and Ives was urged on the legislators through discussions with their constituents and by personal contact with members of Congress.

Unless HR 6000 specifically excluded police and other public employees who now have their own pension systems, Carton said, police services will deteriorate and taxpayers will be burdened with the cost of S.S. as well as with existing pensions which will remain in effect for the life of the pensioner.

Legislative support for the police five-day week and 25-year retirement also was urged.

How to Make Delicious POP CORN BALLS

FIRST you get a bag of Jolly Time Pop Corn from your grocer. Then you mix the delicious pop corn with the Jolly Time Pop Corn balls and cereal corn you want.

Place a layer of spaghetti in casserole. Sprinkle generously with all of the cheeses. Season with salt, pepper, cayenne (very little) and paprika. Repeat layers until dish is filled. Pour in milk. It should come to top layer.

Cover dish and bake in very slow oven (300 degrees F.) until cheese is melted, about 30 minutes. Remove cover. With fork turn the spaghetti so that bottom layer is moved to top and top is sunk to bottom. Bake in 350 degrees F. oven, uncovered another 20 minutes. Then turn top layer under again.

Bake another 20 minutes, turn again and bake 10 minutes more in hot oven—just enough to brown top slightly. Add more milk during baking if needed. The consistency should be slightly moist, not dry.

Serve on large dish, alone in its sumptuous grandeur. Most people don't eat more than three huge servings.

These points are important: 1. Use lots of cheese. 2. Use plenty of milk. 3. Cook slowly. 4. Turn spaghetti from top to bottom frequently.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, link pork sausage, corn bread, butter or fortified margarine, jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Ham, omelet, canned peas, enriched soft rolls, butter or fortified margarine, applesauce cake, tea, milk.

DINNER: Five-cheese spaghetti dish, warm crisp French or Italian bread, bowl of mixed green salad, French dressing, fresh or canned fruit compote, coffee, milk.

COOK spaghetti in rapidly boiling salted water until just under tender. Drain immediately. Add a lump of butter and shake spaghetti until butter coats all of it. Now grease a large casserole or baking dish (at least 2-quart size) with place garlic, Worcestershire sauce and mustard on bottom.

Phone Mediation

States and Southwestern Bell Telephone Companies.

New Jersey Bell Company workers are barred from joining in the walkout because of a state law covering disputes in public utilities. A fact-finding panel yesterday recommended that major demands of those workers be denied. That meant the issues would go to arbitration.

The C.W.A.'s uniform demands are for a 15-cent hourly boost in a "package"—including higher wages, shorter hours, and shorter training periods. The company insists the union is not entitled to any increase, but that each unit of the parent American Telephone and Telegraph Company should bargain locally. It has opposed arbitration.

Support of amendments submitted by Senators Lehman and Ives was urged on the legislators through discussions with their constituents and by personal contact with members of Congress.

Unless HR 6000 specifically excluded police and other public employees who now have their own pension systems, Carton said, police services will deteriorate and taxpayers will be burdened with the cost of S.S. as well as with existing pensions which will remain in effect for the life of the pensioner.

Legislative support for the police five-day week and 25-year retirement also was urged.

How to Make Delicious POP CORN BALLS

FIRST you get a bag of Jolly Time Pop Corn from your grocer. Then you mix the delicious pop corn with the Jolly Time Pop Corn balls and cereal corn you want.

Place a layer of spaghetti in casserole. Sprinkle generously with all of the cheeses. Season with salt, pepper, cayenne (very little) and paprika. Repeat layers until dish is filled. Pour in milk. It should come to top layer.

Cover dish and bake in very slow oven (300 degrees F.) until cheese is melted, about 30 minutes. Remove cover. With fork turn the spaghetti so that bottom layer is moved to top and top is sunk to bottom. Bake in 350 degrees F. oven, uncovered another 20 minutes. Then turn top layer under again.

Bake another 20 minutes, turn again and bake 10 minutes more in hot oven—just enough to brown top slightly. Add more milk during baking if needed. The consistency should be slightly moist, not dry.

Serve on large dish, alone in its sumptuous grandeur. Most people don't eat more than three huge servings.

These points are important: 1. Use lots of cheese. 2. Use plenty of milk. 3. Cook slowly. 4. Turn spaghetti from top to bottom frequently.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, link pork sausage, corn bread, butter or fortified margarine, jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Ham, omelet, canned peas, enriched soft rolls, butter or fortified margarine, applesauce cake, tea, milk.

DINNER: Five-cheese spaghetti dish, warm crisp French or Italian bread, bowl of mixed green salad, French dressing, fresh or canned fruit compote, coffee, milk.

COOK spaghetti in rapidly boiling salted water until just under tender. Drain immediately. Add a lump of butter and shake spaghetti until butter coats all of it. Now grease a large casserole or baking dish (at least 2-quart size) with place garlic, Worcestershire sauce and mustard on bottom.

Fantastic Tale

conscience which resulted in its disclosure. Authorities of Oakland county still were trying to piece it all together.

Prosecutor Clyde D. Underwood announced he would ask the arrest of a son, Carsten James, 28, Marine sergeant, who he said was named as the actual slayer.

The son, one of seven children in the family, was reported on route from Washington, D. C., to a base in California.

The initial revelation and the unearthing of a man's partial ascription took place within the last 24 hours.

Authorities dug up the cloth-wrapped bones from a crude grave in the cow shed on the James family's nine-acre truck farm near the southeastern Michigan village of Clawson.

Earlier yesterday Police Chief Charles Witt of Clawson, a small rural community near here, said he had been told the story on the telephone from Washington by a daughter, Mrs. Muriel Hocker-smith, 26.

Witt said that Mrs. Hocker-smith, a school teacher and wife of a contractor, declared her conscience had driven her to tell of her father's slaying.

Another son, Hugh, 18, who lives with his mother, Ruth, 54, later corroborated his sister's account, Witt said.

Witt said he was given to understand that the elder James mistreated his wife and children and that Carsten shot him to death "for the good of the family."

Witt said he was told that James was slain after a quarrel at a family reunion on Thanksgiving Day in 1947. Members of the family, sworn to secrecy, buried the body, he said.

Aside from the story of the father's death, the James' family history is remarkable.

The farm home is a boarded-over basement of three rooms. The sons have college degrees or are attending college.

Both daughters also are college-trained. The second daughter, Mrs. Lorraine Martin, is a teacher in Chelsea. A son, Ralph, 22, is a student at Michigan State College. His brother, Justice, 24, attends Wayne University in Detroit.

Police Chief Witt said he had known the family for years and that its accomplishments were largely due to the mother's hard work.

As the investigation continued, no charges were filed against any of the family.

The only such step taken was Prosecutor Underwood's announcement that he would ask for Carsten's arrest. Others were released yesterday after questioning.

Vanishing Poker Game

Santa Ana, Calif. (AP)—Veise E. Willmerth told sheriff's deputies he played poker all night with two strangers and a man he had known two years ago in another city. Came morning and he asked permission to leave the game for a moment to call his wife. He left $3,000 on the table. When he returned, Willmerth told officers, the table and the room where the game was played were empty.

We are told that Greer Garson gets giggles displaying a newspaper clipping that reported an accident she suffered. It reads: "The area in which Miss Garson was injured is spectacularly scenic."

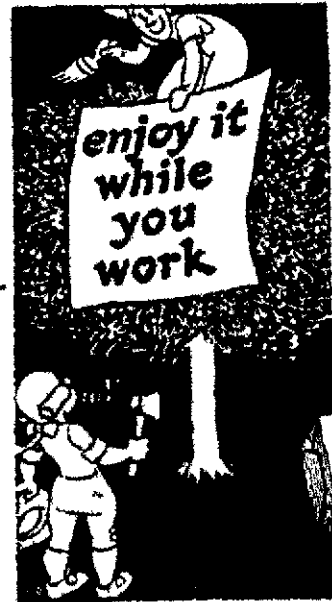

Girl—Here, officer, what's the id—measuring my bathing suit? (Cop—Public safety. There's danger in your thins, chanie.)

Sixty-Four Dollar Question
I answer Junior's question with an evasive reply. On how my ego suffers. When he then asks "Why?" —Harold C. Hibberd Friend—I certainly like good food and always look forward to the next meal.

Man—Why don't you think of higher things once in a while?
Friend—But what's higher than food these days?

The blessings we enjoy every day because they are so common, are usually appreciated far too little by us.

Friend—Your husband has been found riddled with bullets. Do you want the body sent home?

Mother—Hides!
Child—Hides! Why should I hide?
Mother—Hides! The cow's outside.
Child—Let the ol' cow come, I ain't afraid.

Psychologist Says High School Students Should Be Freed of Many Restraints

Felix H. Zaffiro, consulting psychologist and lecturer, last night told 150 members of the Dinner Club that many of the restraints used in the public school system against pupils "should be loosened up."

"We don't give them an opportunity to grow up," he said, adding that the same young people who are treated like irresponsible children throughout high school are often expected after commencement to take a responsible place in the community. They begin work, he said, or go off to a much freer college life for which they have no preparation.

Speaking at the Governor Clinton Hotel where the Dinner Club was meeting, Mr. Zaffiro told of one school superintendent who had experimented with giving his high school's student council "complete run of the school except for the curriculum and the work of the janitor."

The superintendent trained the students for two months, Mr. Zaffiro said, and then turned over the school to the pupils. Pandemonium broke loose, and the president of the student council came to the superintendent in despair. "It won't work," he said.

Each of us has a crack in personality, he said, "and that crack can become the thing that destroys us if we concentrate too hard on it." He urged that positive values be stressed.

Young couples, he said, often begin marriage under a burden of debt which turns their lives into an economic struggle. He urged that they content themselves with fewer material things, instead of mortgaging themselves for years, and place stress on "rediscovering the fine art of making love together, finding a centrality of interest around which they can build a unity."

"If we have no vision of something larger than ourselves, if we have no cause for which we can die, no awareness of something beyond ourselves that is calling us, we are not normal," he said, adding that a real concept of religion and community service was needed.

Discussing aggressive personalities, Mr. Zaffiro said inevitably there was a deep-seated anxiety in the background of the aggressive person's life, ordinarily the result of treatment in early childhood—home or in school.

He warned school teachers that unconsciously they might be sowing seeds of anxiety by ignoring or disliking certain students.

He cited two cases of aggressive personalities: That of young Toni who as a punishment had been left alone in the snow on a road while her parents drove away in the car, and that of a boy who had been unjustly and severely punished by a school principal on his first day at school.

'Medley of Short Humorous Themes' Was Debut of U. S. Theatre in 1702-5

The story of the American theatre from its unprepossessing beginning sometime between 1702 and 1705 to the flourishing Broadway, community, stock and traveling theatre of today was told Saturday by Mrs. Alva Shelly at a meeting of Coterie.

The first known production on any American stage was given by Anthony Ashtor, who came from England in 1701, and who acted in what he called a medley composed of short humorous scenes from celebrated plays, spiced between the scenes with songs and dialogues of his own composition.

Mrs. Shelly said, "His 'company' comprised his wife and son. Theatrical historians in this country have a difficult time, Mrs. Shelly said, because the theatre was frowned on by our Puritanical forebears, and newspapers scorned to fill their columns with matter concerning such low persons as comedians and tragedians."

In 1750 the General Court of Massachusetts passed an act forbidding the performance of plays, and nine years later, Philadelphia followed suit.

Despite its enemies, however, the drama grew. Actor Thomas Kean introduced Richard III in America. In 1823 Amory Hall was

Garden Planner Gives His Recipe For Good Planting
Herbert Cutler, landscape gardener and horticulturist, addressed the Ulster Garden Club at its first meeting of the season Tuesday giving a minute description of his own garden technique.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Henry L. Bilby, 94 Wall street.

Mr. Cutler's talk described the beginning of a garden from the colorful seed catalogue and the selecting of new plants and colors, to the all-important compost heap, planning the ingredients step-by-step as in a recipe to insure a perfect garden.

Next step, said Mr. Cutler, is the mixing of the soil. Then comes the planting of the early seedlings, and then the transplanting, after which the plants are placed in the garden.

Garden Club members, hearing Mr. Cutler's talk, were eager for the time to come "to don our denim, trowel in hand, and go to work," a spokesman said.

High School Cagers Win Second Straight Over St. Patrick's, 64-54

25 For Scheffel; Maroons Streak For Twenty Points

Leonard Stymies Big Ed O'Connor

The only thing reasonably close about the Kingston High-St. Patrick's Academy basketball game last night at the municipal auditorium was the final score.

It reads Kingston 64, St. Patrick's 54 but it was really never that kind of a contest.

Cracking the game wide open with a scoring burst of 20 consecutive points in the second and third quarters, the Klasmen surprised a full house by the ease with which they handled Eddie O'Connor and the Fighting Irishmen from Newburgh.

The boxscore shows 18 points for the tall, gangling O'Connor but this definitely wasn't one of his better nights. He picked up eight of those markers in the last three minutes when Coach Klasmen's substitutes were scrambling all over the place.

Scheffel scored 25. Ronnie Scheffel staged another terrific demonstration of scoring with 25 points, with a remarkably high percentage, while brother, Bud, piled up 14 points for one of his best totals of the season. The sharpshooting of the Scheffel brothers was sensational.

Moli Leonard picked up only seven points but he stayed big O'Connor under the basket and kept the Irishmen under heavy pressure when they couldn't shake him. Clark did heavy damage for the visitors with a series of set shots from the side.

O'Connor tried often enough with looping one-handers, bucket shots and tapins around the basket but he wasn't hitting with regularity.

The expected opposition from a ball club that had scored the Maroons 49-48 on the Newburgh boards never materialized. It looked like a ball game midway in the first quarter when O'Connor narrowed the count to 13-11 but the Maroons took off on their own and that was the ball game.

O'Connor's tap-in started the scoring and, if this was a sign of things to come, they never materialized. George Holstein knotted the score at 2-2 with a running bank shot. Moli Leonard converted a foul and Bud Scheffel hit with a follow-up for a 5-2 Kingston edge. The Irishmen, handling the ball loosely and shooting wildly, never seriously threatened again.

A couple of quick baskets by Clark, one a set from the side and another layup, reduced the Maroon margin to 11-9. Rich hit with a long backboard shot and O'Connor scored from the bucket for 13-11.

Nobody knows what happened to St. Patrick's but they suddenly went cold. While Kingston blitzed to a spurt that produced 20 consecutive points and a 33-11 lead for the Maroons. This spurt in which the Scheffel brothers executed shots broke the back of the ball game.

One spectacular spurt by Leonard and the Scheffel brothers went something like this: Leonard, layup and hook shot; Bud Scheffel, hook shot; another; Ronnie Scheffel a followup and driving layup. It seemed as though the rampage would go on forever until Clark drilled the cords with a set shot from the corner.

The basket hungry Irishmen went haywire with a 27-point blast in the fourth period, particularly in the last five minutes. With the game long since decided, they seemed to thrive on the absence of pressure and hit from every angle on the floor. Clark and O'Connor were effective in this anti-climatic spree.

Jeffersonville, N. Y., crowd pleaser who meets Johnny Dwyer of Boston Irish boxing squad in one of the principal five rounders on the B'nai B'rith boxing card Thursday night at the municipal auditorium. Manzolillo is a top crowd pleaser.

Leroy Hooker was restricted to the amazing total of only one basket but Spohrer Tiano and Koenig clocked effectively to pace the Jaycees to a 52-35 triumph in the preliminary game.

Tiano and Spohrer each dumped in 13 and Koenig had a dozen points. The Maroon yeardlings led 14-11 at the quarter and 28-21 at halftime.

White Plains, N. Y. — Eugene Harrison 17½, New York, outpointed Jackie Keough 15½, Cleveland, 8.

Robby's Just Too Fat For Rickey

Brooklyn, Feb. 22 (AP)—Twelve pounds are causing Branch Rickey more concern than the five reluctant Brooklyn Dodgers who have yet to sign their 1950 contracts.

These 12 pounds may prove to be more stubborn than the wits of pitchers Rex Barney, Jack Banta, Clarence Podbielan, outfielder Gene Hermanski and infielder Bob Morgan—the five reluctant athletes.

This extra avoirdupois belongs to Jackie Robinson, the key man of the National League champions. The circuit's most valuable performer as well as batting champion, currently making pictures in Hollywood, reportedly is totting around 208 pounds of muscle, bone and flesh. His normal playing weight is 196.

That and the fact that Robinson probably won't report to the Dodgers' spring training camp until March 4 or 5 is worrying the Dodger president.

"I'm worried sick about it," Rickey admitted during a press conference. "Robinson's condition is one of the most apprehensive things on the club. He's had trouble with his weight before and I know how difficult it will be for him to pare down to his normal playing weight. I hope he's doing some running in between takes."

Robinson had his greatest season last year, batting .342, leading the league in stolen bases and finishing second to Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner in runs batted in. Of the five remaining unsigned, Rickey expects trouble only with Barney. He feels the others will be signed before the club opens its spring training practice at Vero Beach, Fla., next Wednesday.

Barney has been asked to take a 25 per cent cut from his $34,000 salary. The strong-armed right-hander contends that is too much of a cut and is determined to hold out until the ante is raised.

Pollet reportedly is on the verge of submitting. The St. Louis Cardinal 20-game winner is asking $25,000. Card President Fred Saigh said in St. Louis yesterday both had agreed on the basic salary but are at odds over attendance bonus clauses.

Lemon, who won 22 games for the Cleveland Indians last season, is angling for $35,000. Stephens, who bats cleanup for the Boston Red Sox, supposedly is peeved over his 1950 contract which calls for the same salary he made last season, approximately $25,000.

The world champion New York Yankees also are having trouble gathering in their brood. Nine of the Bombers are unsigned, including:

Newburgh Free Academy's powerhouse set a new all-time scoring record for the DUSO Basketball League by overwhelming the Fallsburg Comets, 94-60, last night on the Fallsburg court. The gigantic total wiped off the record books the 87 points rolled by the Kingston High against the Comets last week.

Fouting baskets through the loose Fallsburg defense, Coach George Masterson's cagers racked up quarter totals of 25, 22, 21 and 26 points. It was never a contest with the Goldbacks in front 25-13 at the quarter mark and 47-20 at the half.

Coach Masterson stayed with his varsity five until they had shattered Kingston's record and then tossed in the reserves.

Dick Tyler pumped in 32 points with 15 fields and a pair of fouls, while Matt Chrystal and Ned Quimby poured in 27 points each. Bowman and Ledato, the two starting guards, picked up the other eight points.

Blackie Klarish, the Fallsburg set shot artist, led the Comets with 28 points.

In other DUSO engagements, Liberty ripped Middletown, 62-35, with Wayne Gabrielson tossing in 22 points.

FURILLO'S RAISE GETS RISE OUT OF RICKEY

Carl Furillo (left), Dodger outfielder, points souvenir pistol at Dodger President Branch Rickey during conference in Brooklyn, N. Y., where Furillo signed a contract calling for big raise. No figures were given out but newsmen figured Furillo will receive $20,000, about a $6,000 boost over his 1949 pay. Furillo was one of big heroes of the Dodgers' September drive last season winding up with a .322 batting average for season.

Pollet, Newhouser and Raschi Seek More Dough; So Do Lemon, Stephens

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—Seventy-seven major leaguers, including such stars as Hal Newhouser, Howie Pollet, Bob Lemon and Vern Stephens, still haven't yet come to contract terms with their employers.

Many may still be yelling for more dough when spring training begins one week from today.

A survey by the Associated Press showed today that the St. Louis Browns have the most malcontents, 15, while the New York Giants have none, the only club that can claim that distinction.

Newhouser, one of five Detroit Tigers out of the fold, is reported ready to sign. The brilliant left-hander reportedly has been asked to take a $10,000 cut, reducing his paycheck to $50,000.

Pollet reportedly is on the verge of submitting. The St. Louis Cardinal 20-game winner is asking $25,000. Card President Fred Saigh said in St. Louis yesterday both had agreed on the basic salary but are at odds over attendance bonus clauses.

Potters Rout Chez Emile 77-56 For 13th Straight in Y Loop

The Journal-American's abrupt cancellation of its popular bowling tournament, affecting 1,392 five-man teams, is the most damaging blow to American Congress Bowling prestige in New York state since the Negro question started boiling over. It is a flatfooted repudiation of the A.B.C.'s stand against kieglers not of the white race and poses a serious thought for the governing body of tenpins. The State of New York through the attorney general, Nathaniel Goldstein, already has filed an injunction against A.B.C. in New York, asking the Congress to show cause why Negro bowlers should not be admitted to A.B.C. membership.

In explaining the J.A.'s stand, Bill Corum wrote: "Any championship not designed to produce a true champion is not, and cannot be, a true championship. For that is the basic assumption, the keystone, on which all sports are founded. So that when any potential contestant is barred by reason of creed, race or color or bias, they are not true sports events, either. And, most certainly, they are not truly American. What American once came to think about it, would want to be the champion of any sport where a better man was barred from competition?"

Expressing regret at cancellation of a tournament that had grown into the largest newspaper-sponsored bowling meet on record, the J.A. said: "To strike against bias and bigotry in this free and wonderful country of ours is far more important. If all Americans can't play, we don't want to play, either."

Flotsam and Jetsam:
Jake Obichelsky claims Clifton Quick remembers the exact date that Jimmy Ferraro rolled his second "300" game and predicts that Willyway Motors will win the Bowldrome Major title. Ditto for Jaysons in the Jacobson Mixed. Another Smith is budding in the basketball world. Donald Smith of the Y Cadets, who has scored 18 and 38 points in his last two games, is a younger brother of John "Buddy" Smith, the Haves College star. If Carl Husbull's prediction that the Brooklyn Dodgers will win the 1950 pennant isn't treason to Giant fans, then what is? But Carl is smart enough to realize that New York faces 22 games with the Brooklyn and past history of this inter-borough feud is painful. Golf pistols will be shocked to learn that Jack Burke, Jr., used his driver twice to fire an eagle in the recent Big Grande Open. The second driver blazed from 230 yards out, downed the shorted aspirin tablet a foot from the cup. Jones Dairy Animals captured 12th place in the I.B.M. Polo Sweepstakes tournament with a gross of 2061.

For a basketball player who consistently hits around the 20-mark, Ronnie Scheffel has an amazing number of assists. Game after game, The Kid is high in the assist column. It all adds up to bitter irony when you recall that Ronnie passed to other teammates last year in Middletown after he had tied Ed Weaver's old DUSO mark of 37 and could have cracked it wide open.

Of Men and Mice:
Peekskill High threw a scare into high flying Newburgh Academy before bowling out, 44-45, on the Peekskill court. Trailing 33-41 at the three-quarter mark, the Westchester quintet rallied to move ahead 44-43 before two foul shots decided the game in the last ten seconds. Dick Tyler hit for 14 in this one. Hi Mount Ski Center is proud of three of its young ski stars, who placed in the Belleaire events Sunday, Dick Davenport, the football-golfing son of Maurice Davenport, and Beverly Davenport, finished first in their respective divisions of the Downhill race. Eric Wiltz of Woodstock finished tenth in the combined event. The tremendous traffic through Kingsport to Highmount and Belleaire over the week-end was proof that winter sports can be a major industry for the area with a little co-operation from the snow gods. Belleaire, a Senator Wicks project, is heading for national recognition, while Jim Simpson and Maurice Davenport are excellent promoters in Phoenix and Highmount. Alex Gerlach, the Tuxedo Golf Club pro, is down in Palm Beach, Fla., probably giving his shirt away in strokes to Judge Schirck, John Van Gonsie and Ed Remmert. Judge John M. Ashla has returned from the south sporting one of those Florida fans.

Ties Record
Bloomington, Ind. — Charles Peters, Indiana University, tied the American indoor record for 60 yards with a 6.1 mark in a dual meet with Purdue.

Shotton III

Kid Grapplers On Boxing Card
Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman, director of the Kingston Boys Club, today announced the names of the six youngsters who will stage three one-minute wrestling exhibitions before Thursday night's boxing card at the municipal auditorium. They are Jack "Foggy" Thrinn, Joseph "Thrinn" John, Herick, Jerry Krom, Charles Parks and Kenneth Hotelling. David Gally will serve as announcer and K. Hotelling as referee.

Long Way Around—Bill Phinazeo feels the breeze of Dick Sullivan's roundhouse before it gets started going his way in the second round of a 112-pound open amateur bout at Brooklyn's Ridgewood Grove Arena. The windup of the Catholic Youth Organization entrant was a bit too long, and the Harlem YMCA led won a decision.

I received today's hand from

Dr. L. W. Ziemlak, who is associated with the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research of the University of Pittsburgh. He told me the hand came up in their regular duplicate session. They had seven players playing, six of which arrived at a four or five spade contract, while one table reached three no trump. All made seven-odd.

The North players who used the Blackwood four no trump convention, asking for aces, signed the hand off at five spades when their partner responded with five clubs, showing no aces. I have given you the bidding as I think it should have gone.

Dr. Ziemlak asked me several questions about the hand. First—Did I think North and South should arrive at a slam contract? Second—Should South open the bidding, and if so, should South bid one spade or three spades? Third—When North bid four no trump, should South bid five diamonds, without an ace, showing the void in hearts?

My comments were as follows: The South hand is too good to preempt, and as he does not have an opening bid, he should pass. The North hand is the type that does not lend itself to the use of the Blackwood four no trump convention.

When North jumps to three spades over South's overall of one spade, South should realize that his partner has a very good hand. He should show the distributional strength of his hand with a bid of four diamonds.

The bid of five diamonds by North shows an ideal fit; therefore, South should know the hand is good for at least a small slam. Now South's bid of six diamonds practically marks him with a 6-6-1 distribution.

Some tournament players would take the hand back to six spades, while at rubber bridge, this had come out the average North player would let the contract stand at six diamonds. A few venturous players might try for seven, but I doubt if many players in the country would reach a grand slam.
